A game of interlocks

The design of the Totem collection from Euromobil is based on a modular system of interlocking elements. The system is composed of a series of vertical poles and horizontal shelves, which can be configured in various ways to create a personalized living space. The design is inspired by the concept of interlocking, which is a common element in many cultures and art forms.

A Totem display in your living area

Separate, but not too much: Euromobil presents Totem, a floor-to-ceiling bookshelf-system to define and organize various spaces, to hold books and objects, and display memories. But that's not all: Totem is a flexible and versatile solution, ideal for creating and carving out a corner of the home for home-working, study, and long-distance education, which can be personalized and accessorized with various shelves, compartments, tops, and desks, elements which can be freely added to create and develop the composition most suited to the available space and intended uses. A multitasking structure based on a pole that runs from the floor to the ceiling, which can be positioned at the center of the room and even fixed to the wall, a totally new concept with the possibility for LED lighting to embellish and emphasize its silhouette, making it shine, even in the dark, like a scenic presence that becomes the feature element of the living area. A product available in the new Wood Canetè finish, a texture featuring a light, three-dimensional effect offering luminous vibration, and a tactile surface that's pleasing to the touch, decorated with small slats available in the colors Brown and Black.
